

LIGHTHOUSE HIRES KEN RASTELLO TO LEAD ITS QUALITY ASSURANCE GROUP

SEATTLE, WA, June 1, 2009 – Lighthouse Document Technologies, Inc., a leader in electronic discovery services, announced that Ken Rastello joined its team as Manager of Quality Assurance.

Prior to Lighthouse, Ken was Director of Project Management for Pitney Bowes Legal Solutions where he worked for the last nine years. He managed a team of project managers at their national processing center that was responsible for all electronic discovery projects. He worked on many large, complex litigation matters for law firms and corporations across the United States.

Ken spent seven years practicing law in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Before that he served as a pilot in the US Air Force and prior to that he was a Russian linguist in the US Navy. Ken received his law degree from Tulane University. He is also a Certified Concordance Trainer.

“We are excited to have Ken join our team with his wealth of eDiscovery experience,” said David Rostov, Lighthouse chief executive officer. “He has very strong technical skills and our clients will benefit from his unique knowledge and expertise.”

About Lighthouse Document Technologies, Inc.

Seattle-based Lighthouse Document Technologies is a leading full-service electronic discovery provider. The company provides the products and services that litigation teams, corporations and government agencies need to effectively manage complex litigation and successfully meet the growing demands of electronic discovery. The company offers a comprehensive suite of electronic discovery services to collect, process, host and produce documents. The company’s clients include leading law firms, Fortune 500 companies and government agencies.

Contact

Lighthouse Document Technologies, Inc.

www.lighthousedt.com

206-223-9690